

- 1. What daily responsibilities do you expect to have on the farm?
- 2. Do you use any environmentally sustainable alternatives to pesticides?
- 3.what type of agriculturedo you have experience performing?

1.For a farmworker, there are usually several daily job duties to perform, so it can be helpful for employers to know that their new hires are prepared for the work

3.As there are many types of agriculture, showcasing the areas you have experience in can show employers where you might be valuable on their farm.

2.As many farms are starting to implement environmentally friendly alternatives to classic farming methods, showing that you're familiar with new methods can make you an attractive candidate.

Agricultural Crop Production Analysis

3.Irrigation is the process of getting the right amount of water to crops at the right time.

1.Environmental factors that the affecting crop production are terrain,climate,soil properties, and soil water

2.Some of the important lists of modern equipement and farm tools the tractor,the Motocular,the Rake.Macheste,Escardilla, Shovel, Peak, Wheelbarro w,the Harvester,Plow tractor,the Harrow,more then to the agriculturale

Drone and Imprinter.

- 1. what are the examples of farm tools?
- 2. what is the role of irrigation in farming?
- 3. why do you want to be a farmworker?

- 1. Farming is a job, a way to earn money?
- 2 .Nearly everything we eat, wear and use came from a plant or an animal raised on a farm?
- 3. Formes care about the land and water?

1.I always ask, but I have yet to have a student name something they eat that doesn't come from a plant or an animal.

2.This seems obvious, right? Well, I discovered many years ago that students don't always think of farming as a source of income.

Farmers are smart.

3. Several years ago I took a group of college students taking an environmental science class to visit a cattle farm and see conservation practices first-hand.

3.There are a few reasons why an interviewer might ask "What are the best things about being a farmer?" to a farmer.

2.There are a few reasons why an interviewer might ask this question. First, they may be trying to get a sense of the farmer's day-to-day challenges and what their work is like.

1.The interviewer is trying to understand the Farmer's motivations for becoming a farmer.

1.What made you want to become a farmer? 2.What are the biggest challenges you face farmer?

3. What are the best things about being a farmer?

